

Scotts Electrical Services Limited was established in August 2007 following the demise of Scott Electromech Limited, formerly Thrige-Scott and originally Hugh J Scotts.

The name 'Scotts' within the Electrical Industry of Northern Ireland is known for its quality of service, professional workmanship, technical ability and value for money. The company's personal approach helps to maintain a friendly and long-lasting relationship with its clients.

The company is currently expanding and wishes to appoint Contracts Electricians, and invite applications from time-served electricians required for installation and maintenance of large commercial and industrial installations.
